Prostate Support is a carefully chosen combination of ingredients intended to help provide nutritional support for mens' prostate. A key ingredient in the formula is saw palmetto. Saw Palmetto is a small palm tree native to the Southeastern United States whose fruit was first used medicinally by the Seminole Tribe of Florida. The extract of the Saw Palmetto tree, when combined with the extract of Pygeum tree bark, provides tag team support for prostate and urinary tract health. In collaboration with these two well studied ingredients, IDLife's Prostate Support formula contains the trace minerals zinc, copper and selenium along with the amino acids L-Alanine, L-Glutamic Acid and L-Glycine to provide an unprecedented powerhouse of nutritional support for men.*
